Delegate information

You are cordially invited to attend a free, one-day workshop that brings together representatives from museums, universities and schools in Bath and the surrounds to explore opportunities for collaboration towards creative education and wellbeing.

This event is organised by Dr. Nathalia Gjersoe (University of Bath Psychology Department), Penny Hay (Bath Spa University, 5x5x5 = creativity) and Elizabeth Neathey (Museum Development Officer, B&NES and Swindon, South West Museum Development Programme) and is funded by a small grant from the Museums and Universities Partnership Initiative (National Coordinating Centre for Public Engagement).

The aim of the workshop is to introduce community partners to each-other, to explore areas of common interest and funding opportunities and to hear case studies of successful collaborations. We hope to build an infrastructure that easier enables museums, universities and schools in the South West to find the collaborative opportunities they need and the funding streams to support them.

To get the most from the day, please respond to the following questions by October 23rd. This invitation is contingent on having completed these questions and responded to K.Lee@bath.ac.uk by this date. These responses will be collated and sent out to all delegates attending the event. A website will be created to maintain this information and support future contact between delegates. We have limited places available so once you have submitted your application, please wait to receive confirmation before making plans.

Lunch and refreshments will be provided.
